

Aladdin and the magic lamp

Once there was a boy named Aladdin.

Aladdin's uncle, a magician, came to visit him. The magician wanted Aladdin's help.

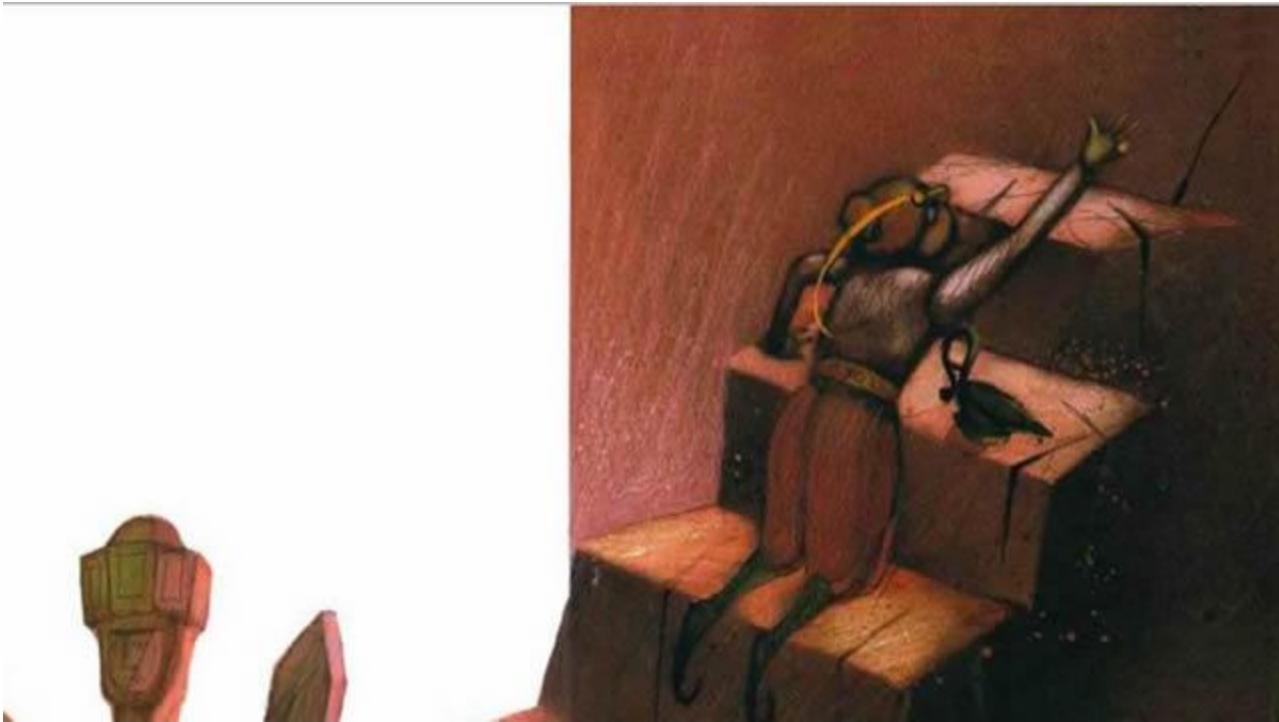

They went to a field where the magician cast a magic spell.

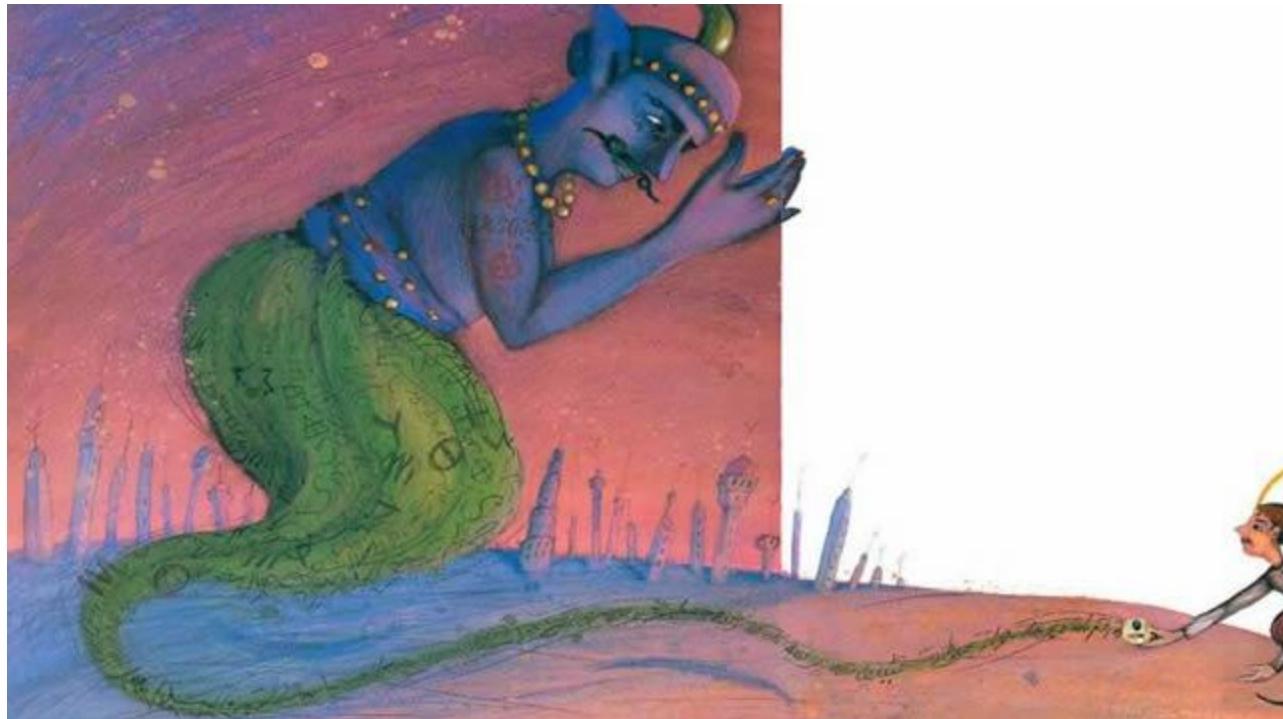

There was thunder and lightning and a stone door appeared.

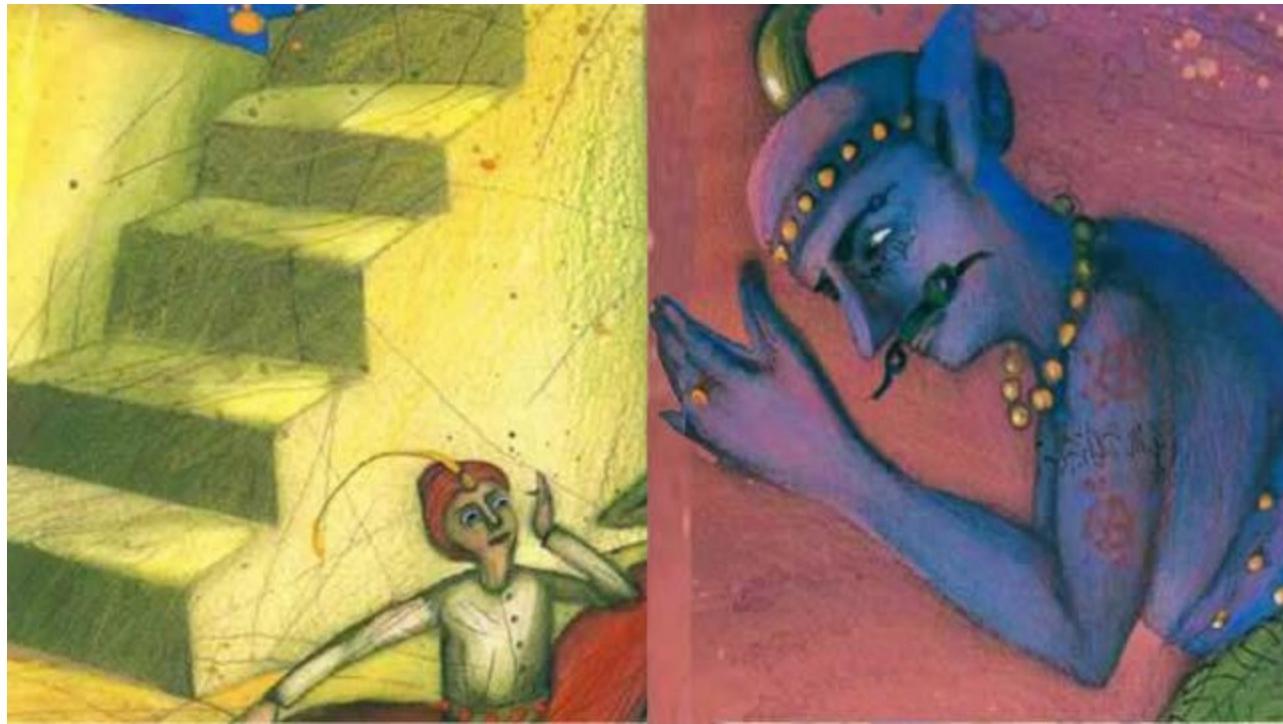

They opened the door and Aladdin went down the stairs. The magician gave Aladdin a magic ring to protect him. He told Aladdin to find a magic lamp.

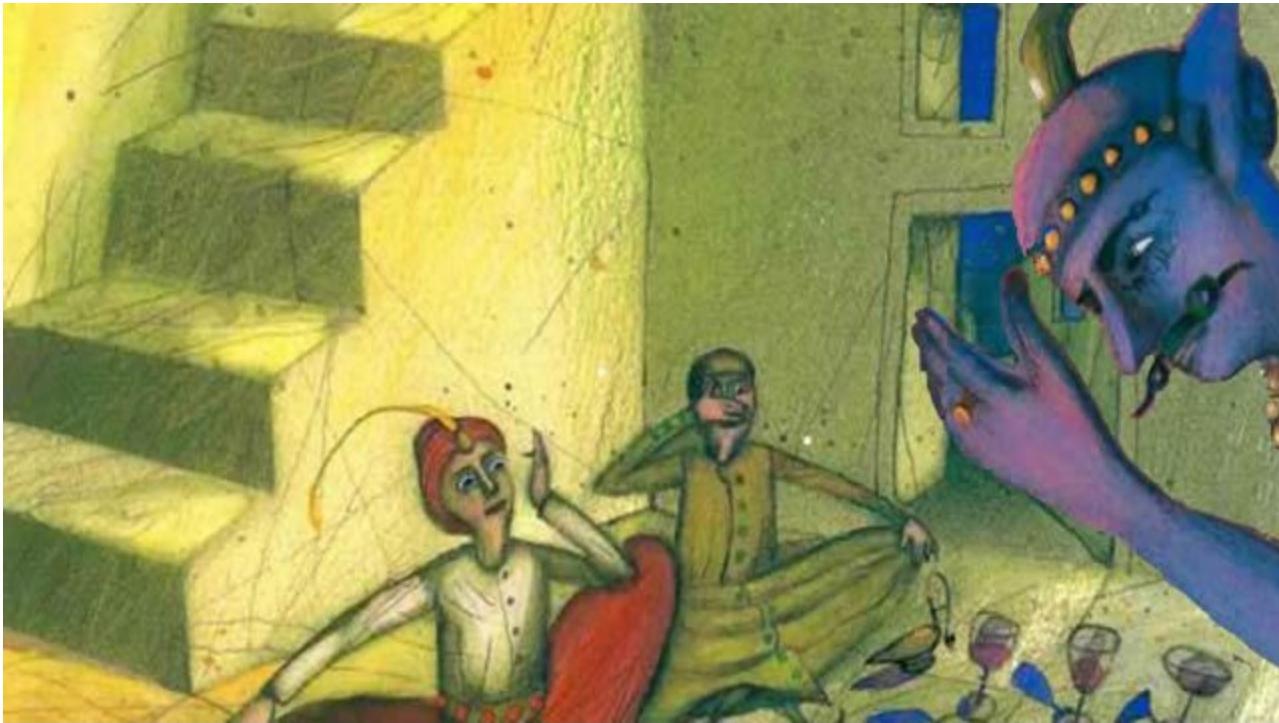

Aladdin found the lamp. The magician said "Aladdin, give me the lamp." Aladdin said "Let me out first." The magician became angry and slammed the stone door shut.

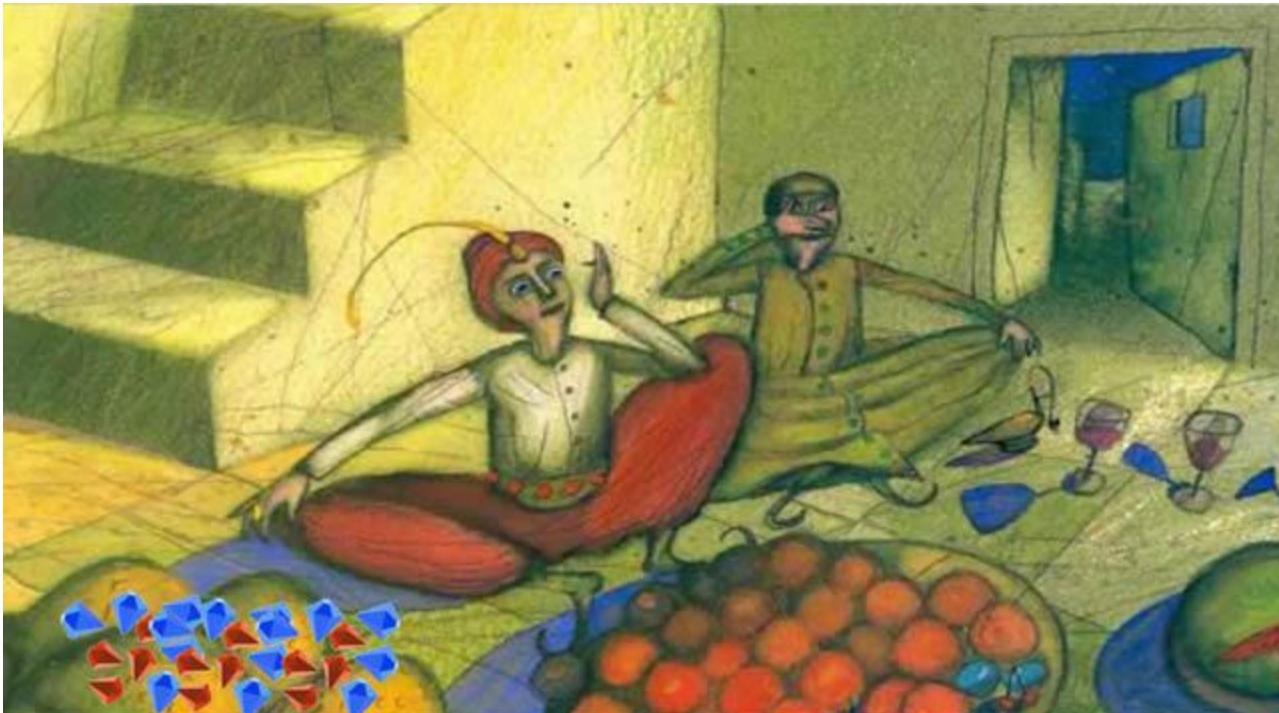

Aladdin was scared. He rubbed the magic ring and a genie appeared.
Aladdin cried "Please take me home."

...and the genie brought Aladdin home.

After a few days Aladdin's mother rubbed the lamp. The genie appeared. She wished for food and jewels.

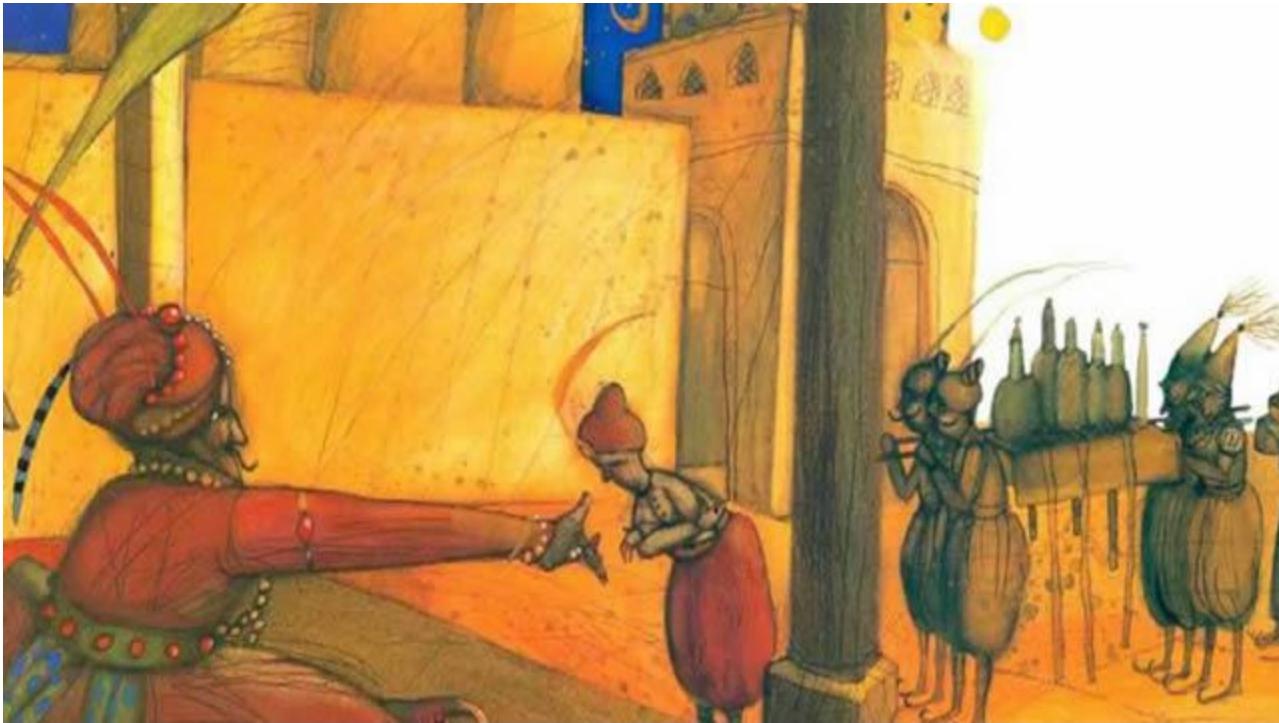

The genie granted her wish.

One day Aladdin saw a beautiful princess. He bowed as she passed by. He wanted to marry the princess.

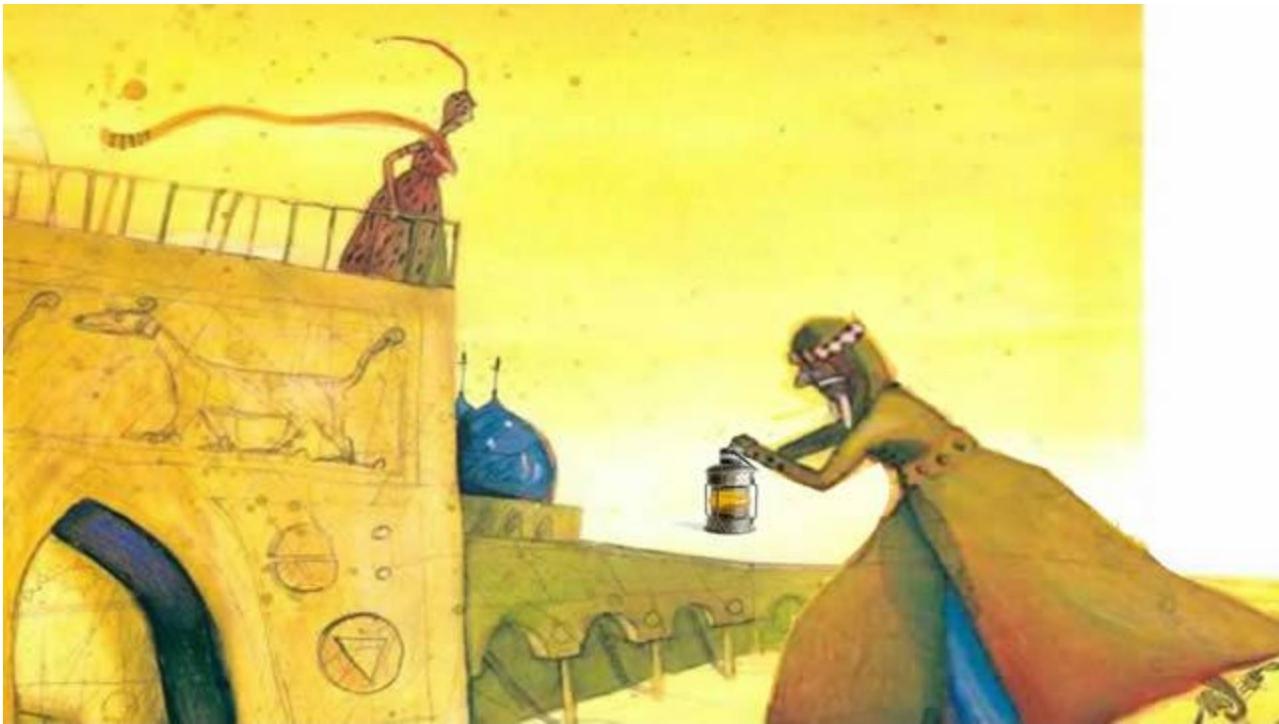

Aladdin rubbed the lamp and the genie of the lamp appeared. Aladdin said "Genie, How can I marry the princess?". The genie said "Go to the king and give him these gifts then ask to marry his daughter."

Aladdin brought the gifts and asked the king for his daughter's hand in marriage. The king said yes.

The evil magician looked in his crystal ball. He saw Aladdin would marry the princess. He was angry and jealous. He knew Aladdin had the lamp.

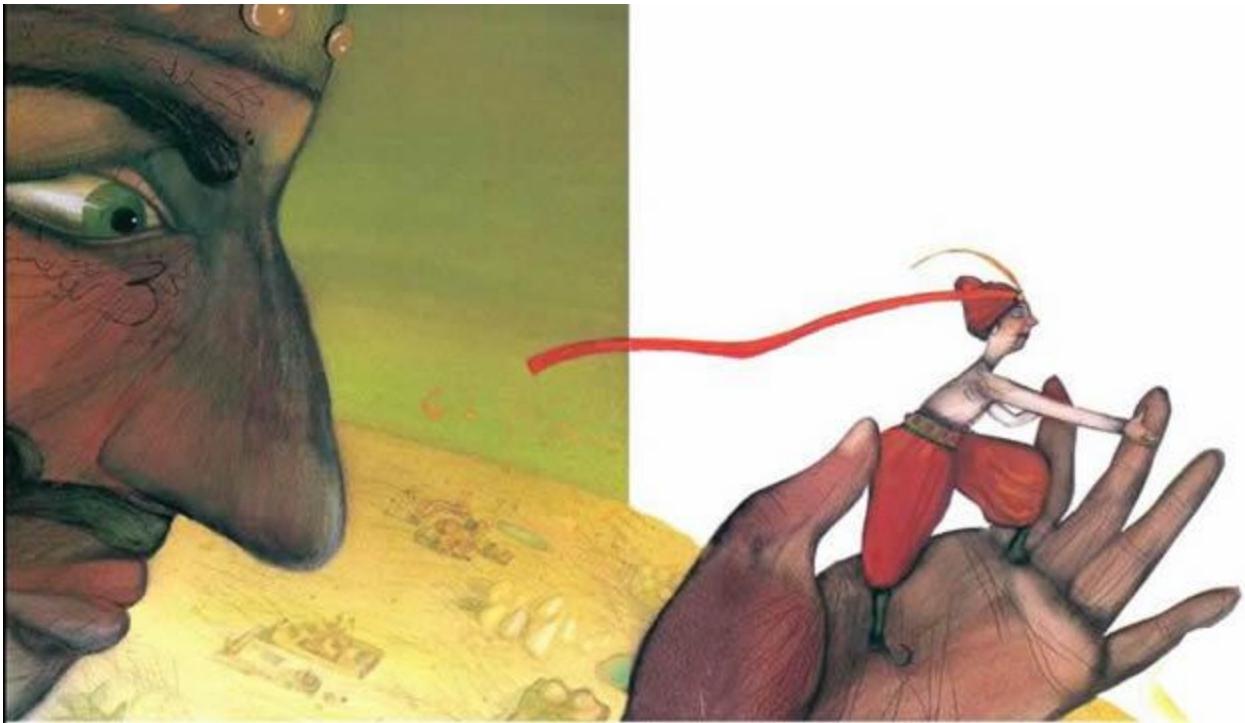

The magician disguised himself as a lamp salesman. He offered the princess a new lamp for an old lamp. The princess thought "I can get a new lamp for Aladdin. He will be happy."

The maid brought the magician Aladdin's lamp, got a new one, and the magician left quickly.

The magician rubbed the lamp. The genie of the lamp appeared and he ordered the genie to take Aladdin's castle to Africa. The genie obeyed.

Aladdin asked the genie of the ring for help. The genie took Aladdin a to find the princess. He found her in his castle in Africa.

Aladdin had a plan. He gave the princess sleeping pills. She put them in the magician's drink and served it to him.

The magician took a drink and fell asleep. Aladdin snuck in and stole the lamp.

Aladdin rubbed the lamp and told the genie "Take us back to our country." The genie obeyed.

The king was very happy to see Aladdin and the princess. They all lived happily ever after.
